

367 BC

. the first 19-yr cycle was put in operation in Babylonia
not later than 367 BC

367 BC.

Duncan; Cal

Babylonia - observation running back 3 centuries or more had observed 235 lunar months & 19 solar yrs were nearly equal.

$$\begin{array}{r} 235 \text{ months of } 29.530588d = 6939.6882d \\ 19 \text{ yrs of } 365.2422d = \underline{6939.6018d} \\ 0.0864d \end{array}$$

Not later than 367 BC in Babylonia
the 19 yr cycle was put in force.

It continued throughout the ancient periods as transmitted to and adapted by other peoples & has remained in use by some peoples ever since. In Babylon the year began with the 1st new moon after the Vernal
Equinox

367 BC - 349 BC

1912 Dates J-BK
Korne

Four wars with the Gauls were fought

367 BC

During his public career, Marcus Furius Camillus was recalled and made dictator for the 5th time in 367 BC when the Gauls invaded Rome.

He defeated the invading army near Alba Funga and subsequently erected a Temple and made substantial improvements in Rome.

367 BC

Two curule aediles were created to give the patricians a share in the custody of the city's buildings and archives. They were elected by the Popular Assembly, which comprised the whole people, patrician and Plebeian & therefore had the right of the curule chair and 2 lictors. From 3rd cen forward

(see + actio) all four are responsible for care of Rome's streets, water supply, drain & sewers, traffic, public works,
building etc. and regulations for private building, public monuments, markets, streets & sewers (houses in Temple of Castor and Pollux) games and the public games supply. Could fine citizens & non-citizens the Deported away in their efforts to fund the games

367BC

The plebeian tribunes LICINIUS
CALVUS and LUCIUS SEXTIUS
enacted the famous LEGES
LICINIAE SEXTIAE.

No citizen could hold more than 500 jugera of public agricultural land

C367-283B C

PTOLEMY I SOTER nephew of Alexander the Great's generals. He secured Egypt for himself and defended it in a series of wars against the other generals. He founded the library of Alexandria, which became ~~the~~ a center of Hellenistic culture.

LICINIAN LAW

- 1). Debtors were helped by having the interest which they had paid deducted from the principal.
- 2) Public land was opened to all, and no one could hold more than a certain specified amount
- 3) The office of Military Tribune was abolished
- 4) Two Consuls were again appointed amalgams; one of whom was to be a physician.

5) There should be 10 pupils of the SIBYLLINE Bards, five of whom were to be physicians.

Two Curule Aediles were created to give the patricians a share in the custody of the city's buildings and archives. They were elected by the Popular Assembly. They had right to be preceded by 2 lictors. From 3rd cen on, all four aediles were responsible for the care of Rome's streets, water supply, drains, and sewers, traffic, public buildings, building standards and regulations.

the private building, games, and the public grain supply

367 BC

Rome

PRAETORS Created

A new office was created for the patricians. They were to be the chief justices with the same power in this respect as was formerly held by the Consuls. They had 2 assistants known as CURULE AEDILES (Chief of Police) who were also selected from the Patricians.

367 - 357 BC

DIONYSIUS II dictator at Syracuse
DION plans reforms.

367BC

MARCUS FURIUS CAMILLUS
was Dictator

He died 365BC

390 AC 367 BC.

The long strife of classes closed in 367 BC. the process of amalgamation that had originally merged the three separate hill towns into the patrician state had at length fused this patrician state and the newer plebeian state into one Roman people. Now this united Rome turned to the work of uniting Italy. This task filled a century.

367 B.C.

TWO CURULE AEDILES were created to give the patricians a share in the custody of public buildings and archives, but the curule aediles were soon as likely to be plebeians as patricians. The CURULE Aediles were elected by the Assembly of the People.

All four aediles were responsible for care of Rome's streets, water supply, drains, traffic, public buildings and facilities, markets, inputs & services, games, and the public game supply.

They had power to fine citizens for infringements of any regulations connected with fire, and deposited the money in their chests to help fund the game. ^{REDEEMSHIP} - William A. Curran - was not a part of CURSOS HONORUM, but because of the game, was a valuable way for practicing, especially to observe for preparation.

367 BC

After 367 BC fourteen military tribunes were chosen to lead the tribes in war, and ten "tribunes of the plebs" to represent them in peace. These 10 were sacrosanct. It was a sacrilege, as well as capital crime, to lay violent hands upon them except under a legitimate dictatorship. Their function was to protect the people against the government, and stop by no word - not, ("I feel") - the whole machinery of the act, in honor to anyone of them

this seemed doubtful

367 BC

CAMILLUS was appointed dictator. At last Licinius and Sextius, tribunes of 367 BC reached a compromise settlement of the land problem with the patricians. The fundamental laws that bore their names provided (1) in future not over 500 JUGERA of public land (about 300 acres) might be leased to any one man (unless he were father of 2 children, in which case he might have 1,000 JUGERA), and no person might pasture on 100 cattle or 500

sheep in better land: (2) during the period to deduct from the proceeds all interest previously paid, and have 3 years to pay up: (3) at least one of the amounts should always be a pension.

Now judicial power was given to 3 parties;

and the management of municipal affairs,

such as food supply; and the control of the grain to 2 councils A.E.D.I.C.E.S.

At last 300000. pence was admitted to the grain for the province, the last thing

left of provincial monopoly